

BABCOCK AND RAINHOUSE

Rainhouse has a well-established relationship with Babcock and has provided their projects with assembly, custom machining, engineering solutions, and electronics manufacturing for over ten years. We are proud to say we have worked on significant projects in the defense industry, more specifically, the Victoria-Class submarines.

Babcock has also supported Rainhouse's initiatives to promote Victoria's engineering and manufacturing industry. Since we started our annual engineering showcase to allow university and grade school students to exhibit their innovative and technological projects, Babcock has sponsored the event to continue fostering the industry and give it the importance it deserves.

On our 2021 Engineering Showcase, Principal Shock Engineer - Stephen Borneman worked alongside other experts in the STEM field to judge the projects and helped us select four winning teams. He introduced and presented the Innovation Award.

Babcock is not only the best company at what they do; they also have strong values and make continuous efforts to support their community.
